

Permission to Display Art on Exploring Art's Website

Dear Parents,

Part of the excitement when doing art is showing it off. We have recently completed a special art project in class through a company called Exploring Art. Exploring Art has an on-line art gallery where they display completed projects done by children. I would love for your child to participate, but parent permission is necessary. I will be submitting a photo of your child's artwork. Along with the photo, only your child's first name, grade level, and city/state will be published. If your child's photo is chosen, you will be contacted. Thank you for participating.

Sincerely,
Your Child's Teacher
